

THE TURKISH JOURNAL OF GASTROENTEROLOGY

From the Editor

Dear Colleagues,

I am glad to inform you that Turkish Journal of Gastroenterology's impact factor has risen to 0.932 in 2016 according to the 2017 edition of Journal Citation Reports, which was recently published by Clarivate Analytics. Currently, Turkish Journal of Gastroenterology is ranked 71st out of 79 journals in its category, jumping from last year's score of 76th. All this data reveals that our journal has an increasing impact in its own field.

We would like to express sincere thanks to our authors, reviewers, and the previous and current editorial boards members and to our publisher AVES, who have all contributed to this success.

Turkish Journal of Gastroenterology's impact factor is now 0.932

We look forward to receiving your future contributions to carry the growing success of The Turkish Journal of Gastroenterology one step further.

Sincerely,

Prof. Osman Cavit Özdoğan
Editor in Chief
